WW2 TREASURE HUNTERS

Buried and forgotten at hundreds of sites across the UK lie forgotten and undiscovered artifacts of World War II, the greatest war waged in modern history. While once in danger of being lost forever to the inevitable march of time and urban development, the WW2 Treasure Hunters have made it their mission to unearth these relics, preserve their history, and bring these forgotten stories back to life. Using state-of-the-art geotechnology, archival documents, and period accurate maps, the team races against time to find the burial locations and uncover the artifacts before they are destroyed by urban progress or corroded by the very soil they are encased in.
